President's Message

Wow oh wow

The conference team headed by Lisa Stocker did an outstanding job with conference. From beginning to the end everything was wonderful. The ladies who work hard all year from officers to committee chairs have shined brighter than ever. The hard work they put in showed in the happy faces of the providers as they enjoyed the conference, there was true education and enrichment had by all.

Will Parents Have More Money To Give You This Year? By Tom Copeland

Now is the time of the year to find out the answer to this question. Some parents in your family child care program will be able to give you more money without it costing them anything. How is this possible? Many employers offer a payroll option that allows their employees to set aside some of their wages to pay for child care expenses without the money being taxed. These plans are called dependent care plans, flexible benefit plans, cafeteria plans, salary reductions plans, or pre-tax spending accounts. Parents who participate in these plans can save hundreds of dollars in taxes by setting aside a maximum of $5,000 per year, per family. Parents decide how much money to set aside before the year begins and their employer keeps any unspent money. You want to make sure that you, not the employer, receive any unspent money. Here's how. Calculate how much parents will pay you by the end of the year. If the amount is more than $5,000, there is no unspent money and there is nothing further you can do. If the amount is less than $5,000, then say this to the parent: "I know that you participate on a dependent care plan at work. My records indicate that you will pay me approximately $___ by the end of the year. If you set aside more money in your plan than this amount, this unspent money will be kept by your employer. However, if you give me this unspent money I will use it to increase the quality of care available to your child." For example, if the parent will pay you $4,800 this year and she set aside $5,000, you want the parent to give you the extra $200. Some parents may want you to apply the unspent money to care you deliver the next year. This is illegal, so do not agree to this. Money set aside under these plans can only be spent on child care services delivered this year (See note below). If the parent agrees to give you the money, just add the extra amount to the parent's next payment, or you can spread it out over payments made until the end of the year. If you want, you can submit a bill to a parent in January or February next year for the unspent money from this year as long as you indicate on the bill that the payment is for some week of child care services this year. (Parents have until March 31 to submit a receipt to their employer for child care services delivered this year.) There is nothing wrong with adding an extra amount onto your normal child care bill, or giving the parent another receipt for the same week in December. The parent should submit a receipt to their employer for this money exactly the same way they submit all other payment receipts. If there is $200 in unspent money, and you regularly charge $180 a week, ask the parent to pay you $380 for care next week. Because this money is being spent on child care services it should not be identified as a "bonus" or "charitable contribution." There is nothing wrong with the parent deciding to pay you an extra amount for the care you provide. All money set aside in a dependent care plan must be spent on child care services delivered this year. Since the parents will lose this money unless they give it to you, most parents will agree to this arrangement. You must report any extra money you receive as income, and you can deduct any items you purchase for your business with this money. I have heard from many providers who have received extra money from parents, ranging from $50 to $1,500. Under what situations would a parent not spend all the money set aside in their plan? Parents who changed caregivers in the middle of the year, parents who missed a lot of work because of illness, parents who overestimated their child care expenses, etc. Note: A change in the law a few years ago allows employers to extend the time employees may use their money set aside in these plans for child care services through March 15th of the following year. In other words, if a parent has $200 unspent money by December 31st, they might be able to use it for child care delivered January 1st - March 15th. If this is the case, it's much more unlikely that employees will have unspent money to give you.

Happy Holidays to you, TPHCCA. I hope everyone is enjoying the weather and looking forward to the Holidays. Our 24th Annual Education and Enrichment Conference has come and gone. It was great seeing so many of you. I always look forward to conference, not only do I get my training but I get to see my friends that I only get to see once a year and it's a chance to meet new friends. I have started making arrangements for next year's conference. The Embassy Suites Hotel was great. the breakfast, the food and the staff. The hotel will have a whole new look next year. So mark your calendars now, September 12th thru 15th, 2013. So you can attend another great conference. We have started planning for our 2013 workshops. Look for flyers around the first of the 2013 new year. Remember to check TPHCCA Website and Facebook for updates. Can't wait to see everyone in the spring. Happy Holidays,

Recording Secretary's Report

Hello everyone! It was nice to see everyone at the conference this year. We were bless to have wonderful speakers and classes. I do not a favorite class as all were great. I especially enjoyed the gardening class with Lisa Nalls as I do need some help with getting the children close to nature and science. I was also taken in by the ADHD/ADD class taught by Laura Craig from the GPISD school district. Laura has been diagnosed with the same condition she taught. I would like to encourage everyone to attend next year's conference being held at the same place as this years conference.

Please bring a friend, they will get hooked on conference.

Have a blessed day

Membership Secretary's Report

Hi everyone. Fall has arrived along with cooler temperatures. So great to be able to get the kids outside more If you missed conference this year you missed a fantastic time. The conference committee did a fabulous job. Thank you ladies. You know, it's not too early to begin planning for next years conference. I am already looking forward to it. Before conference next year will be our spring workshops. After the first of the year start looking for flyers in your mail. The region representatives are already hard at work with their preparations so make plans to attend as many as you can.

I hope everyone has a blessed fall/winter season.

Treasurer's Report

Conference is over and we certainly had a wonderful time. The presenters were excellent, the accommodations were good, and the Tailgate party was awesome. I vote to have one every year. It was so relaxing to sit outside in the night air with all of our TPHCCA friends eating dinner after a day of non-stop classes inside. It just doesn't get better than that.

Our 2012 Conference proved to be a money maker. That is not easy to do anymore. Lisa Stocker and Gail Matthews, along with their Pit Crew, set their goals and I believe surprised themselves with the outcome. I had my doubts but they proved me wrong. Thank you ladies for your diligence.

Once again I will be staying on as your Treasurer for 2013. This will positively be my last year. I have other obligations that make it difficult to continue in this capacity. We need someone to step up and take over this position so TPHCCA can carry on. The position will take someone with a little accounting knowledge. I can train the rest.

The New Year is just around the corner which means Workshops will be starting. Remember, all home providers need 30 Clock Hours now so January 1st start signing up for the Workshops. Any mailed in Dues must be accompanied with a Membership Application or Dues Renewal Statement completely filled out. Your money will not be processed without paperwork. Once again you will be able to pay with a credit card at the Workshop but you must have completed paperwork.

We appreciate your cooperation.
I wish you Peace, Love and Joy.

Greetings Region 5E Family and the members of TPHCCA

Once again, I am excited to have had the opportunity to attend the TPHCCA Annual Educational and Enrichment Conference. ENRICH: to make rich or richer especially by the addition or increase of some desirable quality, attribute, or ingredient the experience will enrich your life Besides the opportunity to obtain 21 training hours, the sessions I attended were very informative and energetic. Dr. Nedra Washington presented a session titled: Technology and Media: Serving Children from Birth to Age Eight which was truly enriching. It was a great experience to participate in a debate on the pros and cons of using technology in the family child care or child care center setting. This session also focused on when (not before the age of two) to incorporate computer time and for how long. Also discussed was how to use developmentally appropriate websites while taking into consideration the child's current developmental and mental status. KUDOS to all those who worked so hard to put this conference together.

Region 05W's Report

Hello everyone, I just wanted to tell you what a great conference we had, and to those of you that could not make it , we sure did miss you! One of my favorite classes at conference that I really enjoyed was Small gardens of Learning. Its all about growing plants with the children and making projects. It was so wonderful to see the venders again, and to see all their new things they had to sell to us. And it was great to see the other providers and spend time with them. Keep a watch out for your workshop flyer, coming out after the first of the year, See you then!

Fundraising Report

Hello TPHCCA!!

What a fantastic Conference!! For those who were not able to attend this year, we missed you very much and we hope to see you all next year! I want to thank all those who came to the fundraising table to purchase items from me to help support this wonderful association! Without your support in raising money for the association, we will not be able to put on workshops or conferences, so your support is very much appreciated. I would love to hear from members on what they would like to see at the fundraiser table. Without your input, I will not be able to raise money for this association, so Please call or e-mail me your ideas for next year, so I can present these ideas to the board for approval. Again, I thank you all for your support and I look forward to seeing all of you next year at the workshops and conference.

Historian's Report

History: A record or account, written and in chronological order of past events, those concerning a particular nation, people, field of knowledge or activity. Historian: A compiler of a record, for a specific group or purpose. As I look in the past books of workshops, meetings and conferences. I am in awe of the changes from the first to the last book of record. This organization has tread always forward in producing the best in every endeavor. The people that I have come to know in my years of membership, I feel as if I have grown with them through past pictures and acknowledgements. This conference I was allowed to become part of the past pages serving as historian. ( of course a lot of people saw my husband (Ed) taking pictures) I was very surprised to receive a memento for such a short service. Thank you so much. The conference this year went very well, I enjoyed the flavor and the camaraderie Of each and every person. I hope to grow closer to those that are already friends and to grow close to anyone who wants friendship. I am looking forward to the future workshops, meetings and the 2013 Conference as historian in taking not only pictures that represent the dedication of our organization but of the fun we all have when we are together. In order to grow more and present more history, try to encourage others to join.

Hello Members, I pray that all is well with each and everyone of you and your love ones. What an awesome conference that Lisa Stocker and committee put on. The presenters were all excellent. The tailgate party was awesome, lots of Food, Drinks, Desserts, and most of all the fellowship and the line dance with other fellow members and associates. The hotel was an A, make plans for next years conference @ the Embassy Suites once again, September 12-15th 2013. As your publicity chairperson I will finish out the year , promoting TPHCCA, members we are here to stay, no matter what the economy looks like, no matter what our situations look like, so help this association to remain strong, as I publicize our great association you do the same for our association. Keep in mind that we are team, you don't have to be on the board of the TPHCCA to be on the team, the team is in your heart and that is the heart of TPHCCA. Sincerely Summited,
